1. Go to Library Search I Ketu (the library catalogue) on the Library homepage and Sign In with your student username and password. (You don’t have to Sign In first but you may get more results and improved results by doing this first.)

2. Once signed in, enter the article title (in this example the title is surrounded by quotation marks to instruct Library Search I Ketu to search for the words as a phrase — together in that order).

3. This article title has been found in Library Search I Ketu and it looks as though the full text is available online. To access the article, click on Available Online.
5. Once you’ve clicked on Available Online, options for accessing the article will display. In this case the article is available in Elsevier ScienceDirect. Click on this link to get to the article.

6. Here’s the article in the ScienceDirect database. Now look around for a full text option (usually in PDF or HTML format). Once you’ve clicked on the full text link, you should find options for downloading, saving or printing the article.

---

Can’t find the article online?

Contact the Library
Visit any of University of Otago Libraries and ask the staff at the Lending + i desks
Email: ask.library@otago.ac.nz

Are you a distance student?
Email: distance.library@otago.ac.nz